

One Thousand Birds

a DESIGN STUDIO for AUDIO

who we are

One Thousand Birds is a design studio for audio.

OTB specializes in sound design, mixing, + original music for commercials. We also create immersive sonic landscapes for films, radio, podcasts, events and installations, and AR/VR/XR, opening the doors for innovation + collaboration across the full spectrum of design for audio.

We cultivate spirit, engage rising talent, and push the boundaries of sonic creativity while maintaining highest standards, being nice, and providing seamless deliveries. You haven't heard anything like this.

With teams based in four major cities around the world and the infrastructure for instant remote collaboration, we bring a global perspective to our output and open doors to diverse, up and coming talent.

Year after year, we're honored to collaborate with the most creative teams in the industry on campaigns for innovative global brands such as Spotify, Squarespace, Chanel, Google, Marvel, and Apple.

where we are

NYC >>> LA >>> Bogotá >>> Lisbon

All of our studios have capability for VO and ADR recording, sound editing and design, and stereo and surround mixing, all in person or remotely. Our workstations across the globe are tied to secure central servers, allowing us to share ideas and collaborate in real time between our engineers + producers.

We deliver for any output format and audio spec including traditional stereo + surround, interactive ambisonics for VR, and Dolby Atmos for 3D binaural audio and 3D cinema sound. The heart of our work is always finding the most impactful sound for each moment.

In 2020 we founded and launched Hii Magazine to connect with our global community of sound-lovers. The interactive audio-first site and its accompanying biannual print magazine offers inclusive stories, interviews, and lifestyle content pioneering cultural conversations through the lens of sound.
